

Are you a parent of a child age birth through five or an early care and education professional?

Consider joining Child Trends' study!

Child Trends (a non-profit, non-partisan research organization) is partnering with the state of North Dakota to learn more about how best to support children's development and prepare them for school. We would like to hear from families & early care and education professionals like you!

Eligible participants:

- Parents of children ages birth through five (and not yet in kindergarten)
- Early care and education professionals who work with children ages birth through five

How do I participate?

If you agree to participate, you would join other parents or early care and education professionals in a focus group that will last approximately 1.5 hours. You can participate in an in-person group OR a virtual session.
